Subject: DSD Offering Discretionary Project Professional Certification Training to Streamline Permitting for Qualified Applicants

On Monday, Oct. 30, the Development Services Department (DSD) will host a Discretionary Project Professional Certification (Pro-Cert) class for industry professionals to learn about discretionary development project application submittal requirements. The class will provide a comprehensive review of discretionary permit application requirements, demonstrate how to use the online permitting portal and explain the customer bill of rights.

Attendees who complete the session will be deemed “Discretionary Pro-Cert Applicants” and will be allowed to bypass the initial completeness check for a discretionary project application. Instead, it will be moved into immediate review upon the applicant's payment of applicable fees and deposits.

Beginning Nov. 1, 2023, DSD will only accept an applicant's self-certification request with a verified completion of this training.

If you are interested in attending, please register by Oct. 20. Note that space is limited to the first 40 registrants. If the session is filled, the registration form will be closed. You can add your name to a waitlist to be contacted if spaces become available or additional sessions are scheduled.

The training will be held downtown at 525 B St., from 9 to 11:30 a.m.
